Constitution Oak Celebration

SEPTEMBER 17, 1987
by VIRGINIA ARRAL

The weather, which had been threatening rain, cleared beautifully for the Mattapoisett Constitutional Oak Celebration held last Thursday on the Old Rochester Regional High School grounds.

A large group of residents attended the planting of an oak tree in the section of grass towards the Junior High School in celebration of the 200th year of the U.S. Constitution. This was in fact a symbolic tree because, as Town Moderator and Master of Ceremonies R. William Blasdale, said, "Only God can make a tree and the tree intended to become permanent wasn't quite ready to be planted." The occasion was no less impressive as many of the 46 invited planters shoveled dirt around the tree. An honorary planter was Ethel DeTerra, a resident of Mattapoisett Nursing Home, who will celebrate her 100th birthday on September 24th.

Chairman of the Constitution Oak Celebration Committee Spottiswoode W. Randolph expressed his thanks for the "terrific reception" he got from all who said "yes" when asked to help plan the program. He especially thanked the school principals and the high school band. He mentioned letters received from government officials from President Ronald Reagan on down and that the letters would be on display at the Town Hall for those who wished to see them. He noted the town's church bells would ring at 4 p.m. that day (Thursday) in conjunction with other churches throughout the country for 200 seconds in celebration of the 200th year of the Constitution.

Town Moderator Blasdale commented "It is only fitting we plant an oak tree as its strength symbolizes Mattapoisett because of its early shipbuilders who built clipper ships and whaleships of the same strength

Following the playing of the National Anthem by the high school band and the Invocation by the Rev. Raymond D. Patch, pastor of the Mattapoisett Congregational Church, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen John N. DeCosta spoke on "Life in the 1780s".

"Life in Mattapoisett Village, then part of Rochester at that time", Chairman DeCosta said, "had people carrying lanterns for light; water drawn by hand from wells; shot their own food and made their own clothes. Trails churned with mud as news and letters were delivered on horseback. Women had large families to labor on the farms. Smallpox killed many."

The Chairman continued, saying,

"But there were good times, too, with dancing in the Village Square and sports and games. Boat building played an important part of life in Mattapoisett. Seafood was an important part of the diet and herring were plentiful. Town government lacked money - the officers served at no pay. It was a hard life, but it was tempered with freedom to live as one wished."

Dr. Manuel C. Rosenfield, Chairman of the Old Rochester Regional District School Committee, spoke on a "special Massachusetts Patriot" - Elbridge Gerry of Marblehead.

Asking who was this man and why did he refuse to sign the Constitution, Dr. Rosenfield explained how this man who worked so hard to form the constitution refused to sign the document. "Active in the Boston Tea Party, representative to the Continental Congress and signer of the Declaration of Independence, this patriot was upset because he felt the document failed to limit the military, no limitation on the right to tax and no limit spelled out to limit Congress to make laws.

"Even though this patriot refused to sign the document, he believed in participation saying even if you don't agree you should be a part of the process. The patriot felt the document wasn't finished and that it could be made better. Elbridge Gerry went on to become a governor of the Commonwealth." Rosenfield concluded with a passage from the Bible, "A Godly heritage has been given to you - forsake it not."

honey, former president of the Massachusetts Bar Association, told of the Constitution - the Idea and Experiment. Saying "Ideas embodied in the Constitution and faith in the Constitution is based on a voluntary association of those who came together to create a sonsensual self-government. The second idea is the plan of this self-government should be in writing. The third idea determined the separation of powers - such as who determines getting into a conflict which was inevitable. This is a significant aspect of the development of the system.

"The Constitution is an experiment," Mr. Mahoney said, as he quoted Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., a sometimes Mattapoisett resident, "It is an experiment, as all life is an experiment." "The Constitution proved to be adaptable", said Mahoney, "as it began and continued as a living document. In the Civil War period the Constitution was extended to include 'due process of law'; since World War II human rights and civil rights have developed."

A plaque reading "We the people of Mattapoisett, in order to celebrate the living spirit of our Nation, its past, its present and its future, do plant this tree, our 'Constitution Oak'" is set in the ground in front of the tree. Reader of the town plaque was Dianne Gayoski, Junior High School student. David Lamoureux, Senior High School student, read the Preamble to the Constitution, September 17, 1787.

Chairman of the day's event Randolph said the plaque was cast in West Virginia and the stone is "strictly Mattapoisett", found and brought to the site by Highway Surveyor Manuel R. Nunes and his crew.

Mr. Nunes said the stone came from the Brandt Island area and was selected for its unusual shape and flat front.

The Benediction was given by Fr. Stanley Kolaska of St. Anthony's Church. In concluding remarks, Moderator Blasdale said the Constitution is a marvelous document because even though men didn't agree, division, dissension, goodwill and compromise all fashioned this document.

Among the tree planters were the Board of Selectmen, School Superintendent Joan Walsh, Principals Donald Murphy, Robert C. Gardner, William H. Reed and Katherine Kozicki, Tree Warden Wesley N. Bowman, and other town officials, leaders of town organizations, two students from each of the Mattapoisett schools and one student and one from the faculty of the Junior and Senior High School.

Of special note was one of the youngest members of one of the oldest Mattapoisett families, Andrew Denham, kindergartener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Denham and grandson

Mattapoisett Selectmen's Meeting

SEPTEMBER 15, 1987-by VIRGINIA ARRAL

OPENING OF THE RIVER FOR SHELLFISH, HOPEFUL

Shellfish Constable Brian Nunes reported to Selectmen last Tuesday that he "hopefully can see a seasonal opening of the Mattapoisett River for the taking of shellfish". In reply to Selectmen's question on where contamination is coming from, Constable Nunes said he still doesn't know for sure where it is coming from. "There doesn't seem to be any direct cause, and test results show different each time they are taken."

Selectman William F. Hubbard exclaimed, "I can't believe we can't find where the contamination is coming from."

Constable Nunes received the Board's approval to send a letter to Tina Davies of the State Marine Fisheries requesting that her department in part, "I urge your attention to this request in order that a possible seasonal opening from November to March can be considered. An alternative request would be to go on a rainfall closure status. Hopefully, together, we can solve this problem and begin utilizing the Mattapoisett River once again."

A letter will also be sent to State Senator William Q. MacLean requesting his help in initiating a seasonal opening of the river.

On another shellfish matter, Constable Nunes reported that he has made arrangements with the Town of Duxbury to sell it oysters at $6. per bushel.

Nunes said the town will sell them about 200 bushels for $1,250. Deputy Costa will do the digging at no cost to the town, as Duxbury will pay the extra labor cost. The $1,250 will go into the Town's General Fund and not into the Shellfish budget.

The Constable informed the Board the State Division of Marine Fisheries has approved the action. "We have too many oysters and the beds are overcrowded," he said. The state has the overriding authority on contaminated oysters for a relay. The state requires 90 days for oysters to clean; "we usually give them six months, but I don't know how long the town of Duxbury allows."

When Selectman Frank Suzan asked Nunes to run any action on shellfish through the Selectmen's office in the future before agreeing with the state on removing any shellfish from town, Nunes explained the state has the authority to do this and said he was told if he didn't make the relay the state could order us to do it. He agreed to notify the Selectmen of any future proposed shellfish move.

The Constable and Selectmen agreed they would just as soon see a trade - the oysters for quahogs rather than the money.

On another shellfish matter, Mr. Nunes informed Selectmen the state will be requiring shellfish constables to have more police training. "I guess I'll have to go to the police academy because of the new state law coming up which is expected to pass. I think the deputy may have to take training like reserve officers," Nunes said.

MET WITH Wayne Peterson, engineer working for Fisher and Rocha, who presented a plan to construct a retainer wall at Goodspeed Island.

Mr. Peterson explained the plan is to restore the bridge abutment owned by the town off Depot Street. It covers the old railroad right-of-way and the retaining wall will prevent erosion where the stones fell from the abutment. Stones will be replaced and built slightly higher to the crest of the road, Peterson said.

Selectmen requested an additional plan to build steps over the bridge be withdrawn. Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta said, "People like the natural look where they take walks." Mr. Peterson said he will revise the plan before he has a hearing with the Conservation Commission on October 20th.

MET WITH Thomas Grondski, coordinator of the Center School Playground Committee, who said work will start at 7:30 a.m. October 17th and will continue until the equipment is all in place. He noted the parts are pre-cut and pre-drilled and are put together like a giant Tinkertoy. The site will need preparation with gravel spread around. He said there are volunteers for this part of the project.

WILL CONDUCT interviews within the next two weeks with each of the candidates for the opening of the town accountant's job and that of the building inspector. Three applications have been received for the town accountant's opening, and five for the building inspector's.

RECEIVED WORD from PACE, the fuel assistance program, noting that 104 Mattapoisett households were served, for a total expenditure of $56,666. It was noted the taking of applications for the coming fuel season will start in October at the Town Hall, date to be announced.

NOTED Charles Johnson of 2 Cedar Street, Harbor Beach would like to donate a 30 foot evergreen tree to the town to have it transplanted to Shipyard Park for a permanent Christmas tree. Selectmen expressed their gratitude for the offer but refused it as it has been their past decision not to plant a tree in that location because it blocks the view from the Mattapoisett Inn.

ANNOUNCED the town is accepting bids for a 1954 Ward LaFrance 750 gallon per minute pumper. The pumper has a 400 gallon booster tank, low mileage and is well-kept. Bids will be accepted until 10 a.m. Oc-

Several areas have been reopened to shellfishing but it is advised that clammers check with Mr. Jennings for locations. Shellfish propagation plans and systems were discussed. Douglas Thackeray suggested that an order go in immediately or Marion may come up short in the spring.

Commercial and residential shellfish regulations are being updated and penalties established for abuses. The Marine Resources Committee requests that Douglas Thackeray and other commercial shellfishermen attend M.R.C. planning sessions to review any changes in the regulations and make suggestions for implementation. Atty. Crotty will review any suggestions for legality. Selectmen Chairman John Hoagland requests that regulations be completed by December so printed information will be available to those renewing shellfish licenses after January 1, 1988.

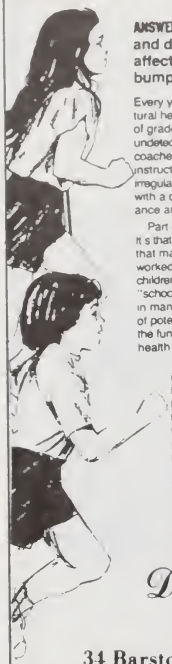
QUESTION:

WHY SHOULD CHILDREN HAVE CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL MANIPULATION?



ANSWER: Because growth and development can be affected by minor bumps, jars and falls.

Every year, thousands of structural health problems in students of grade and high school level go undetected even though teachers, coaches and physical education instructors watch for health irregularities which might interfere with a child's physical performance and learning ability.

Part of their jobs? Not really. It's that extra sense of dedication that makes these already overworked public servants give children that extra attention. The "school guardian" is responsible in many cases for the detection of potential health problems and the funneling of children to proper health authorities.

What most people don't know is that most health problems are far too complex for the teacher to note. And with a busy schedule, the educator can't be expected to have the time to screen problems that are beyond his or her scope of training, no matter how conscientious the teacher may be. The result: many children have health problems that retard their ability to learn or engage in sports effectively.

Here's what you can do:

- Parents should be urged to take more responsibility for their children's health.
- Parents and teachers should be alert to such things as changes in energy level, postural changes, moodiness, listlessness or any unusual signs that signal a problem that will impede learning. One of the observable signs is lack of interest in school activities.
- The structural balance of the child's body should be considered. The school teacher will no doubt note the child's posture, but that does not always indicate the structural integrity of the body. Comprehensive chiropractic examinations, including examinations of the spine, pelvis, neck and limbs should be recommended to avoid developmental problems.
- Incorporate posture awareness programs into your class projects. Write for suggestions and materials.

Mattapoisett Historical Society

ANNUAL MEETING THIS THURSDAY

Mattapoisett Historical Society's annual meeting will be held Thursday, September 24th, at the Museum on Church Street, at 7:30 p.m.

Following the meeting the featured speaker will be Leonard Pierce, docent at the Whaling Museum in New Bedford. His talk on "HETTY GREEN - FACT OR LEGEND" should be most interesting. Hetty Green, born in New Bedford, was the wealthiest woman in New Bedford and became the wealthiest woman in the U.S. Her manner of living, her astute investments on Wall Street and her connection with New Bedford make her a most interesting subject. Plan to attend - renew your membership or become a new member of the Society. You are promised an interesting evening.

sought to form a government which no nation had ever had before.

Principal Katherine Kozicki spoke to the children of the document which emerged. She explained that the Constitution is the framework for the rules by which every American lives. Thanks to these grand rules each American is also protected from the government by having his and her rights spelled out in full. The government, also, is divided into three branches of equal importance so that each can check and balance the other. Mrs. Kozicki said that many programs would be continuing throughout the day in the school in order that the children should better understand the document which is unique in all the world. The children recited the Preamble of the Constitution aloud in teams and sang the patriotic songs of love for America.

Peter Stone recently returned to New England after living in Los Angeles for nine years where he attended the Claremont College and then began his career as an artist. He has exhibited his work at numerous galleries on both coasts and has won awards at juried shows. Described as a "contemporary romantic artist", Mr. Stone envisions romanticized landscapes and seascapes in oils and watercolors. They are emotional open spaces, often serene vistas, vivid in color relationships, painterly and deft in execution.

The works shown here originate primarily in the cranberry bogs, bays and estuaries of coastal New England. The artist explores a range of seasons, weather and the dramatic changing light of his favored sanctuaries. Mr. Stone is internationally collected and commissioned by private, corporate and public clients not only for his landscapes but also for portraits, especially of children. He pursues his expressions from his studio at Great Hill in Marion.

New Bedford Glass Museum RECEIVES FEDERAL GRANT

The New Bedford Glass Museum has received a major grant for conservation of its collections from the Institute of Museum Services, a federal funding agency.

The $10,538 grant was presented to Museum Director Janie Chester Young by Lois Burke Shepard, Director of the Institute. The award was one of 248 out of a field of 495 applicants. The New England presentation ceremony was held at the Lyman Estate in Waltham, MA.

The NBGM grant will be used in a two-part project to improve the Museum's climatic environment. The first stage will be to replace the Museum's protective window barriers with new material that blocks ultra-violet light. The next stage will include a year-long measurement of the Museum's light, humidity, temperature, and air-particulate levels, as well as a professional conservation evaluation of the Museum's mechanical systems. The total conservation project began September 14th and

In accepting the award, Mrs. Young noted the Glass Museum's "gratitude to IMS for recognizing the urgency of our project. The potential for damage to our collection from ultra-violet light was greater every year. The IMS award not only solves that immediate problem, but will establish a scientific basis for all future planning of our storage and exhibition spaces."

Returning for its third tour of the United States, the Tonkuenstler Orchestra will perform a delightful program of light classical music. Vienna is internationally renowned for inspiring a wealth of waltzes, polkas, and musical settings, and the Tonkuenstler is recognized as unequalled in its masterful renderings of this rich musical heritage. The orchestra, which has established its reputation throughout Austria, has toured extensively throughout Europe and Japan, and has appeared at the world's major music festivals.

It will be an evening of Old World charm from the Ballroom Era as the orchestra performs Mozart's Symphony No. 31 in D Major, Beethoven's Two Romances for Violin and Orchestra, and several pieces from Johann and Josef Strauss. Featured soloists will be Gail Dobish, soprano, and Manfred Geyerhalter, violin soloist.

Alfred Eschwe, conductor, first came to international attention as the replacement for the famous Willi Boskovsky with the Strauss Orchestra in Barcelona. He subsequently conducted the orchestra at the Gewandhaus in Leipzig and Weimar, Monte Carlo

Gail Dobish, soprano, has been heard at the Metropolitan Opera in "Arabella", "L'Enfant et les sortileges", Adele in "Die Fledermaus", and Olympia in "Tales of Hoffmann". She has sung leading roles with the New York City Opera including Leila, Lucia and Susanna. She has also been heard at the Opera de Nice as Servilia in "La Clemenza di Tito" where she will also portray Constance. The soprano portrayed Dorotka in the Cincinnati Opera production of Weinberger's rarely-heard "Schwanda the Bagpiper". She has been soloist with the Milwaukee Symphony, the Opera Orchestra of New York, the Collegiate Chorale, and the Philharmonic Virtuosi and has been heard at Spoleto USA and Aspen Festival.

Manfred Geyerhalter, violin soloist, returns for his third American tour with the Tonkuenstler Orchestra of Vienna with which he has appeared as soloist throughout Europe and at numerous music festivals including those of Salzburg, Flanders, Florence and Montreux.

On Saturday, October 10th, from 1 to 4 p.m. we have our second annual "GO FISH DAY". This was very successful last year. Many people from the community come to lend their expertise in this area. We will have fish printing, so bring a pre-washed T-shirt. There will also be cooking demonstrations. Learn about the unusual types of fish in our area and examine the species on display. You can also build a model of a fishing boat. Drop in any time; this is free with Museum admission.

Also on Saturday, October 10th, at 7:00 in the evening we offer Astronomy Night - "THREE VIEWS OF THE PLANETS". Learn how our family of planets look through telescopes and through spacecraft cameras. This program is led by Gerald Dyck, our resident astronomer, free to all participants.

Bedford's history, the design division's flower arrangements will reflect the city's 200 years of history within its seven different classes. Class 1, In the Beginning-The Land, features arrangements emphasizing the beauty and variety of foliage. Class 2 requires a table setting reminiscent of the city's Quaker heritage, using fruits and vegetables. In Class 3 The Whale Fishery, contestants will plan an arrangement to complement a painting from the Museum collection. Class 4 focuses on New Bedford's Textile Mills of the late 19th century; arrangements will feature fresh or dried material on an old spool. The Pairpoint Manufacturing Company, which produced glass and silver plate tableware, will provide the central motif for Class 5. In a tribute to today's New Bedford fisherman, each entrant in Class 6 will create a small arrangement set in a scallop shell. Finally, in designing an arrangement suggestive of high technology, the entrants in Class 7 look to the future -- 1990 A.D.

The Horticulture Division will surround the half-scale model of the Whaleship Lagoda. Asters, chrysanthemums, dahlias and other fall cut flowers will be shown, as well as a variety of container-grown plants. Within this class there is also an opportunity for those who grow edible plants -- herbs, vegetables, and fruit -- to show off their successes.

Prizes will be awarded by nationally recognized judges of the Garden Club of America, some of whom will come from as far away as North Carolina to participate in this event.
